Albia® Business Rules Management

Introduction

Most of IT systems are based on serving some business needs, to run business processes, or simply to execute business rules, which is why Albia® has developed innovative Business Rules Management solutions which can save you time and money on defining, executing, and monitoring business rules.

Business functionality can be easily modelled and deployed as a set of business rules, making it easy to understand both for business and IT people.

Albia® provides a broad range of business and technology services that deliver real business results. With headquarters in Sarajevo (Bosnia and Herzegovina) Albia® covers many private and public sectors in different countries by bringing innovative and agile solutions delivered by top consultants through our specially designed agile consulting methodology.
